About the Vegetarian/Vegan Society of Queensland (VVSQ)

The Vegetarian/Vegan Society of Queensland (VVSQ) is a non-profit organisation that promotes living without animal products - as far as possible. Membership is open to vegetarians, vegans and those who are sympathetic to avoiding animal products. It includes a subscription to Vegan Voice and/or Natural Health and Vegetarian Life magazines (both quarterly), as well as Vital!, our local newsletter. Members can learn new recipes and meet people who share similar views. Full members are eligible to serve on committee and can vote at the Annual General Meeting.

Aims and Objectives

- To promote humane, environmental and other benefits of living without animal products.
- To provide support to new and existing vegetarians and vegans.
- To help people who want to avoid products that come from or have been tested on animals.
- To distribute educational material on living without animal products.

What does the Vegetarian/Vegan Society of Queensland do?

- Operate a website with a forum that allows people to discuss issues.
- Hold stalls and other community, fundraising or information events.
- Produce and distribute educational material.
- Organise social events for vegetarians and vegans to get together with like-minded people.
